How It Works:

Copper has been used for centuries as a healing agent. It has natural antimicrobial properties and is known to improve blood circulation, increase energy, and promote detoxification. Copper is particularly effective in reducing inflammation, making it ideal for treating pain and tension.

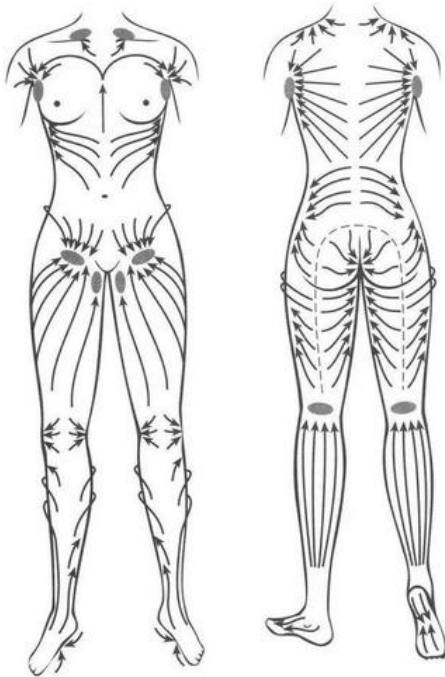

Crystals have been used in various cultures for their ability to balance energy. The natural vibratory properties of crystals resonate with the body's own energy systems. When placed on areas of tension or imbalance, the crystals stimulate healing by drawing out negative energies and promoting the flow of positive energy. Energized with AFT Quantum Resonance, the crystals in the AMcone amplify these healing effects, promoting deeper relaxation and faster recovery.

AFT Quantum Resonance Technology™: is a proprietary process that energizes the natural components of the AMcone (copper and crystals) to resonate at a Zero Point Field. This unique frequency stimulates energy corrections and promotes coherence in the body's energetic system. As a result, users experience enhanced healing, cleansing, and balance.
